

Dear Dr. Digs

Dear Dr. Digs,

My kids want to play in the CHRVA Summer Series. Can I play in the same tournaments or are there also adult tournaments on those days? Signed, Ginny Behr, Montgomery Woods, MD.

Dear Mama Behr in the Woods,

Dr. Digs assumes you would not want to play against your own children. The humiliation would lead to years of psychological counseling (for you). Fortunately, all of the CHRVA Juniors Outdoor Program grass tournaments are at the same location and time as adult tournaments. Here is a list of CHRVA-sanctioned and other local tournaments. Check the host's web site for Juniors opportunities.

Date(s)	Location	Web Site
July 14	Wilmington, DE	www.bluehenvbc.com
	Limerick, PA	www.eastcoastvolleyball.com
July 21 and 22	Laurel, Maryland	www.mavolleyball.org
July 28 and 29	Reston, Virginia	www.fairfaxvolleyball.com
	Beltsville, Maryland	www.kogvolleyball.com
Aug 4 and 5	Laurel, Maryland	www.mavolleyball.org
Aug 11 and 12	Reston, Virginia	www.fairfaxvolleyball.com
	Wilmington, DE	www.bluehenvbc.com
Aug 18 and 19	Beltsville, Maryland	www.kogvolleyball.com
Aug 25 and 26	BelAir, Maryland	www.kogvolleyball.com
Sep 1 and 2	Laurel, Maryland	www.mavolleyball.org

Good luck! Dr. Digs may see you out there. (But will you see Dr. Digs?)

(continued on next page ...)

Dear Dr. Digs,

I played in a Reverse Coed grass tournament last week and my partner kept dumping the ball instead of setting me. (I won't say her name, since she might see this.) Why would she do that? - Anonymous

Dear Over on Two,

First off, the Anonymous thing doesn't work. Everyone online knows everyone else. Secondly, here is a list of what you may have done wrong:

1. You passed the ball too tight to the net.
2. You're standing in front of the ten-foot line again.
3. Your last serve hit her in the head and broke her Gucci sunglasses.
4. The last three balls you hit "in" were in the next court.
5. Your Facebook status last night said something about sandbagging with the only partner you could find and teaching her about real outdoor volleyball.
6. The three beers you drank in your tent while she was keeping score for your work assignment.
7. That comment that she would be a better setter if she dropped a few pounds.
8. Forgetting your wallet when it was time to pay the entry fee.
9. Your pre-game speech was "Don't worry, I could win this match by myself."
10. You thought hitting on her was better than setting her.

If anyone else recognized themselves in that list, I hope you were able to replace the partner that "suddenly stopped answering your calls."

Until next time, I hope you all have a great summer and I hope all juniors attend at least one good camp and "Ace" the High School tryouts.

Dr. Digs
PhD VB